know. As we tread the path of life;

There's many a grief and lasting wee And the way is toll and strife: But the hardest load we have to fear her new home.

O'er the stream that is never crossed.

We have fretting and worry from liam, Theo. Hoffmann and Walcott, public schools.

morn till night And anguish weighs on the heart;

The thorny way seems hard to right, And life is a bitter part. But there is a burden greater yet,

Much peace of soul it has cost,

It is building a bridge with toil and aweat

O'er the stream that is never crossed.

There's looking for crossings all the day

And searching along the shore For a bridge or ford along the way

We shall never travel o'er. There's sighing for useless toys in

And dreaming of chances lost:

But 'tis hardest to bridge with might and main

The stream that is never crossed. Then gather the roses along the way

And treasure the fragrance rare: Rejoice in the bright and joyous day, Refusing to borrow care,

For sorrow and pain will surely come And your soul be tried and tossed, with spirit and appreciation. But don't be bridging to reach your home
